25th December 2025

Dear Readers, Researchers, and Contributors,

As we bring this year to a meaningful close, it is with great satisfaction that we present the December issue of IJERST. This edition brings together impactful research contributions that advance innovation, sustainability, and technological excellence—reflecting the spirit of inquiry and dedication that defines our scholarly community.

The past year has witnessed significant growth for IJERST in terms of international submissions, academic collaborations, and quality benchmarks in scholarly publishing. We are pleased to share that our journal is steadily progressing toward broader global visibility, with indexing initiatives such as DOAJ currently under active consideration, alongside ongoing efforts to enhance review rigor, publication ethics, and accessibility.

This issue showcases research that not only contributes academically but also addresses pressing real-world challenges, reinforcing our commitment to promoting engineering solutions that support sustainable development and societal well-being.

We express our heartfelt appreciation to our esteemed authors for their trust, to our diligent reviewers for their scholarly rigor, and to our editorial team for their unwavering commitment. Your collective contributions continue to strengthen the reputation and impact of IJERST.

We look forward to the coming year with renewed enthusiasm, inviting continued collaboration and inspiring research contributions.

Season's greetings and best wishes for a progressive and innovative year ahead!

Warm regards,

On behalf of Editorial Team

Dr.V.RameshBabu
