Dear Readers,

It is with great pleasure that we announce the upcoming release of the second issue of the International Journal of Engineering Research and Sustainable Technologies (IJERST). As we continue our journey to promote advancements in engineering research and sustainable technologies, we are excited to bring you a diverse array of cutting-edge articles, insightful research findings, and innovative solutions to pressing global challenges.

We are thrilled to share that IJERST has been granted an ISSN (International Standard Serial Number) for its online publication. This milestone not only signifies the journal's official recognition and registration but also underscores our commitment to adhering to international standards of scholarly publishing. With this ISSN, our readers can easily access and cite our articles, further enhancing the visibility and impact of the research published in IJERST.

Furthermore, we are diligently working towards obtaining Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) for our articles. DOIs provide a permanent and unique identifier for each published article, ensuring its citability and accessibility over time. This additional feature will enhance the credibility and reliability of our journal, reaffirming our dedication to fostering excellence in scholarly communication.

We extend our sincere gratitude to our esteemed authors, dedicated reviewers, and supportive editorial board members for their invaluable contributions to IJERST. Your commitment to advancing engineering research and sustainable technologies is truly commendable, and we are honoured to showcase your work in our journal.

We invite our readers to explore the upcoming second issue of IJERST, where you will find a wealth of knowledge, innovation, and inspiration. Together, let us continue to push the boundaries of engineering research and pave the way towards a more sustainable future.

Thank you for your continued support and enthusiasm for IJERST.

Warm regards,

On behalf of Editorial Team
